Vandals strike Cedar Rest again

BY D.C. HARVILL

There is no rest for the dead in Cedar Rest Cemetery in Bay St. Louis—because, apparently, vandals are insistent that there is not.

Approximately 20 headstones and cement vases have been broken in the cemetery at some time in the last two weeks, according to Van Favre of Bay St. Louis, whose mother's grave is among those vandalized.

This makes the second time the cemetery has been hit by vandals in several months. Graffiti recently had been spray painted on the wall along the Second Street side of the cemetery and several crypt.

Favre said a friend of the family informed him on Thursday that someone had knocked his mother's headstone off its base. When he and his wife went to the cemetery they discovered the damage to the other graves.

Apparently someone pried the markers from their bases and turned them over. A number of them were broken, along with several cement vases.

"When we were in the cemetery two weeks ago and the graves were fine," Favre explained.

When Favre reported the damage to the Bay St. Louis Police Department, they told him it was likely a group of kids or possibly a cult.

Favre said police informed him a cult that was active in the area had been driven out, but could have returned.

"They had to have pried them off," Favre said. He consulted someone in the monument business who told him that the glue used to attach a headstone to its base is intended to last indefinitely.

"Whoever it was had to be at least 15 or 16," he said, "Because it took all I had to move my mother's stone; they had to be fairly strong."

"I don't understand what they are doing in the cemetery at night," Favre said. "When I was a kid I didn't go into this cemetery except on All Saint's Day. I learned respect for the dead."

"It seems today kids don't have respect for anyone, living or dead," he said with disgust. "This makes me wonder what kind of kids we're raising these days," he added.

Favre said he hopes the vandals are caught and made to repay the cost of the damages, which, for the broken stones, he estimated to be considerable.

Seymour is representing the City of Bay St. Louis while Schwabacher is the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce entry in the annual rodeo queen pageant. There is no entry fee for the rodeo and registration information is available at local fishing camps, bait shops and other fishing related businesses, Rodeo President Ken Err st said. In addition, registration is being accepted by telephone at 863-2713. (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Bay man charged in Friday stabbing

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Bay St. Louis resident has been charged with aggravated assault in a Friday night stabbing incident at the Big Five Lounge.

Bay St. Louis Police Detective Tom Burleson said a report of a fight at the lounge was received by telephone at about 11 p.m. Friday, but when officers arrived "nobody knew anything about a fight."

The officers who had responded to the scene at the corner of St. Francis and Sycamore streets then returned to patrol.

Shortly thereafter, Burleson said, the police department received a call from Hancock Medical Center, reporting that a stabbing victim had been brought in for treatment.

Burleson said the injured man, Louis Davis of Bay St. Louis, had three stab wounds to the chest area.

After talking with Davis, police officers questioned the man's brother-in-law, Dornnell Taylor, also of Bay St. Louis.

Taylor told authorities that he had been talking to his wife, who is Davis' sister, and that Davis allegedly "didn't like the way he was talking to her" and assaulted him, Burleson said.

Taylor stated to officers that he "did what he could to get him (Davis) off."

Taylor has been charged with aggravated assault and is in jail on $5,000 bond, the detective said.

He said Davis remained hospitalized Saturday in stable but critical condition and is being guarded.

"A fair of the heart" scheduled at St. Rose

BY D.C. HARVILL

St. Rose De Lima Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis will be holding "A Fair of the Heart" on July 2nd and 3rd.

The fair is intended to be a family event, according to fair coordinator Phillip Williams.

"The Fourth of July Weekend traditionally is a time when everyone come home," Williams said, "So we designed the fair to be an event for the whole family, not a drunk and rowdy money-making thing."

The fair is open to everyone. We want everyone to feel welcome. That's why we call it A Fair of the Heart.

Food available at the fair will have an international flavor, including mexican, oriental, soul and cajun.

Bo and Dee, Steve and His Band from New Orleans, disk jockey Al Love and Foxy Radio will provide music. A video van will also be showing the latest music videos.

A variety of games and dances will be featured, including a "crank it up" contest in which contestants will pit their car stereos against those of other contestants, and tennis and baseball tournaments.

The fair will be from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on both the 2nd and the 3rd on the grounds of St. Rose De Lima Church at 301 South Necess Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TRAINING—Instructor A.J. Scardino checks on the progress of a deliberately set fire at an empty Washington Street residence donated to the city for fire department training. Firefighters from the county's professional and volunteer departments participated in the training school on Saturday morning before allowing the house to be destroyed by the controlled fire. For training purposes, an upstairs room was set ablaze, temperature was monitored to about 2,000 degrees, then firefighters wearing air-packs went into the structure in teams to put out the flames. Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana said he invited Scardino to conduct the class after participating in one of his training seminars. Fire departments represented included Bay St. Louis, Diamondhead, Waveland, BaySide Park and other volunteer departments. (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

DRIVERS INJURED—A damaged Nissan pick-up truck waits for a tow truck Saturday while a group of firefighters and police officers prepare to load the injured driver of a second vehicle, a 1988 Chevrolet Celebrity, into an ambulance. Mirabelle R. Mathias of Bay St. Louis, the driver of the car, was taken to Hancock Medical Center by Mobile Medic Ambulance after the accident at the intersection of US-90 and Longfellow Drive, Bay St. Louis Patrolman David Sellier stated. The crash also injured William David Hughes of Waveland, driver of the pick-up truck, who was taken for treatment at Hancock Medical Center by a private vehicle. Sellier said Mathias failed to yield right-of-way as she came out of Longfellow Drive into the path of Hughes' vehicle, but was not given a citation in the accident. Traffic had to be rerouted from US-90 onto Longfellow for about 20 minutes after the noon crash. Assisting Sellier at the scene, in addition to Mobile Medic, were Bay Patrolmen David Parker and Richard Jackson and Bay St. Louis Fire Department, Waveland Police Department, Hancock County Sheriff's Department and several volunteers from the BaySide Park Volunteer Fire Department. Ballooning, space travel and music featured on 'Roads'

On location at Stennis Space Center

'Mississippi Roads' takes flight this week with segments that highlight a balloon race in Canton, a visit to the National Space Technology Laboratories in Bay St. Louis and the spiritual rebirth of an inmate in the Rankin County Correctional Facility in an encore broadcast Tuesday, June 28, at 7:30 p.m. on Mississippi ETV.

The first destination of the evening is Canton's Fourth of July celebration and the 1987 Mississippi Championship Hot Air Balloon Race. Balloonist Don Stanford of Oxford demonstrates flight instruments and explains sponsorship of balloons.

Balloonist/Instructor Larry Torgerson of Meridian explains ballooning requirements, costs, licensing and training. 'Roads' then takes viewers up in Torgerson's balloon for the Hare & Hound race. Torgerson's balloon is the 'hare,' and he sets a target for the other balloons, the 'hounds,' to strike with dropped bean bags.

Next, 'Roads' wings its way to the National Space Technology Laboratories in Bay St. Louis to look in on the many diverse activities in progress there.

Charles Whitehurst, director of the Earth Resources Laboratory, explains a high-altitude method of evaluating ground conditions for use by the agriculture industry. Jerry McCall, director of the National Buoy Data Center, tells about the development and use of weather buoys that measure temperature, wind direction and velocity and waves.

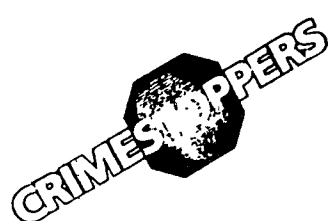

Marvin Carpenter, project manager, Shuttle Support Operations, tells viewers about tests on space shuttle booster engines, engine requirements and capabilities and Lee English, test supervisor, describes how engine tests are observed and controlled.

Finally, 'Mississippi Roads' arrives at the Rankin County Correctional Facility for a visit with Sheldon Gooch, a convicted armed robber serving a life-plus-sixty-year term. After undergoing a conversion to Christianity, Gooch became a counselor to other prisoners and an assistant to Chaplain Wendy Hatcher, and recorded a gospel album titled 'I'm Free.' In concert at Watkins High School in Laurel, Gooch sings 'New Man' and 'I'm Free,' which incorporates his testimony to Mississippi youth.

'Mississippi Roads' is underwritten by Chevron U.S.A. Inc.

Consanguinity denotes blood relationships

By Dr. Betty Drake
HATTIESBURG— Consanguinity is the term used to denote the blood relationship that exists among individuals who are descendants of the same ancestor.

There are two kinds of relationships, lineal and collateral. Lineal relationships are those that occur between individuals who are in the same direct line—parents, grandparents, great-grandparents, and so on. Collateral relationships are those that exist between persons who have a common ancestor but are not related lineally—such as cousins, aunts, uncles, nephews and so on.

Most everyone understands who first cousins are, but there is often confusion about second, third or cousins, once removed. First cousins are, of course, individuals who each have a parent who is brother or sister to the other. Second cousins are children of first cousins; that is, the second generation.

Third cousins would be children of second cousins. The term 'removed' is used to indicate a difference in generations. An example would be the relationship between one person and the child of his or her first cousin—two different generations.

PUBLIC RECEPTION

Congressman Trent Lott, candidate for the U.S. Senate, is being honored Friday, July 1 at a public reception at the Diamondhead Community Center.

The reception will begin at 6 p.m. There is a $5 per person admission charge.

Some old documents mention 'brother of the full-blood' or 'brother of the half-blood.' Full-blood means having the same parents while half-blood is having only one parent in common. Relationships that come about because of marriage—in-laws and step relationships—are not consanguineous or blood relationships.

If this description is too confusing, there are charts available at the McCain Library and Archives at the University of Southern Mississippi that show more clearly the different kinds of relationships. (Dr. Drake is genealogy librarian at the McCain Library at USM and is a guest columnist for the Hattiesburg American.)

Armed robbery suspect arrested

BY DENA BISNETTE
A Shoreline Park man suspected in two armed robberies reported Thursday morning has turned himself in to the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Keith F. Burch, 32, of Route Six, Bay St. Louis, has been charged with armed robbery in connection with hold-ups at Majik Market at Washington and US-90 in Bay St. Louis and Todd's Mini Mart on Highway 603.

The charge stemming from the Majik Market robbery was brought against Burch by the Bay St. Louis Police Department, while the sheriff's department is handling the charge on the Todd's robbery in a joint investigation with Bay St. Louis.

At the Majik Market, Burch allegedly walked to the back of the store, helped himself to a beer from a cooler, then covered his head with a muscle shirt that he took from his back pocket, Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay said.

Wearing the shirt, which had eye holes cut into it, Burch then allegedly proceeded to the front of the store, showed the clerk a gun and demanded money. He was given about $45 from the register.

Peterson said at this time it is not known whether a real gun or a toy was used.

At Todd's, which was robbed about 5:30 a.m., the robber wore a muscle shirt with eye holes on it on his head, showed the cashier a gun and got about $250 to $300 from the cash register.

Burch was released on $25,000 bond.

Quotables by CUEVAS

It was good to see our Hancock County Board of Supervisors requesting the U.S. Corps of Engineers assistance in maintenance dredging the upper end of the channel of the Jourdan River in the Bay of St. Louis.

Shoaling in recent years is causing some navigation problems, especially for loaded barges.

Barges have been used to ship lumber products across the Bay and up the Jourdan River for many years.

We hope the Corps of Engineers will give positive answers and lend assistance in the project.

We noted an unusual amount of trash fish left on the Bay bridge a few days before we received a letter from a subscriber which was published on Thursday.

This is not the first time we have noted fish being left on the auto bridge.

There are not too many United State Highway bridges which fishermen are given an opportunity of using along with traffic.

It seems fishermen could at least throw back the fish they do not want, even if they are shiners or saltwater catfish.

The fin of a catfish could cause an auto to have a blow-out and someone could possibly be injured.

We have a good thing going in being able to fish from the bridge. It would be a shame if just a small percentage of those who are sloppy fishermen would cause the rest not to be able to use it anymore.

It seems to us everyone should be able to throw trash fish overboard.

Stray dogs in BaySide Park is not new to law enforcement agencies.

We can remember several instances involving dogs running loose in the area in recent years.

People who are unable to keep their animals in their own yards should not have any, because they can cause problems for a community.

Some people like to raise animals in cages and something is wrong when cages are knocked down and the animals killed.

Maybe it is time for Mississippi to have some very strong animal laws. I know a lot of folks right off will say, why doesn't the Board of Supervisors do something. They have a problem in that they cannot make laws, as they have to be made by the legislature.

I saw Russell Elliott Friday afternoon and he said he was receiving all types of comments about my mentioning him in my column on Thursday.

Russell is one of the directors for the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo and as most of you know. He escorts the princesses each year. The rodeo dates will be July 1, 2, 3 and 4.

This is the 40th Anniversary for the fishing rodeo listed as the world's largest.

There are 22 categories for salt water and six fresh water, as well as special awards.

In order for a fisherman to compete, all they have to do is pre-register. The fishing waters are in the Mississippi Sound of the Gulf of Mexico, extending south from the shoreline between the land boundaries of the states of Alabama and Louisiana with the Gulf depth unlimited. Fresh water fishing includes anywhere in the bays, bayous, creeks, rivers, and lakes within 200 miles north of the Mississippi shoreline.

MISSISSIPPI PARKS

About a year ago I introduced a bill into the House of Representatives asking the National Park Service to study the creation of a series of parks along the Mississippi River corridor. Well, some folks in Natchez, Mississippi took note of that idea and I'm glad they did.

The city of Natchez and many of its residents came to Washington recently to ask a House subcommittee to create a national park that would preserve Natchez's antebellum history. What a great idea.

We need a national park in Natchez for many reasons. First and foremost, we must protect our southern treasures—like Melrose, Fort Rosalie and other landmarks, including Natchez-Under-The-Hill. And it's important we do this quickly, because if we don't, we could lose them forever.

Secondly, we must preserve the historical significance of the area. The story of Natchez and the Mississippi River is an important one—for Mississippi and the nation.

The bill I have introduced would designate the Natchez site for a park commemorating the southern boundary of the historic 455-mile Natchez Trace parkway, which presently ends ten miles from the bluffs of the river in Natchez. Obviously, this development would directly benefit a soft Mississippi economy, not to mention that of her neighboring states.

This idea has a wide range of support on all levels—local, state and federal. Even National Park Service Director William Penn Mott, who has stressed a need for additional study of the project, told the subcommittee that the Natchez story is one that "ought to be told."

Preserving our Southern heritage is vital. This proposal is one reasonable and achievable way of doing just that.

The People's Business

Weekly Editorial From
Mississippi Economic Council

BUSINESS SCORES VICTORY WITH PRESIDENT'S VETO

The United States Senate has voted to sustain President Reagan's veto of a trade bill, which included a measure calling for advanced notice of plant closings.

The President vetoed the bill, citing the plant-closings provision as one of the main criticisms he had with the bill. Under the provision, companies with 100 employees or more would be required to provide them with 60-day notice of plant closings and large-scale layoffs. Reagan pointed out that the provision would take away from managers the flexibility necessary to keep business in peak economic health.

The vote to sustain the President's veto is a major victory for business in this country. Had the measure passed, it would have interfered with management's right to manage, as the President pointed out.

Indications are that a more moderate version of the bill may be submitted before fall adjournment, which may or may not include the plant-closings provision.

Members of the Mississippi congressional delegation should be urged to vote against any measure which includes such a provision, for, if the measure becomes law, it would allow the government, courts, and unions to participate in the employer's decision-making process concerning a company's fundamental well-being.

The President's Column

One of the things I like about my job as President is visiting and talking with our young men and women in uniform. I have met them all over the world—at our Army outposts along the demilitarized zone in South Korea, on board the U.S.S. Constellation, in the hangers of Tempelhof Air Base in West Berlin, at Parris Island in South Carolina, and recently at the Coast Guard Academy. And everywhere, I have seen that their commanders are right—they are the best we have ever had.

Seven years ago, when we came to Washington, we found airplanes that could not fly and ships that could not sail for lack of trained people and spare parts. The military could not recruit enough people or hold onto those they had.

Today that has changed. The men and women in the services are well-trained and well-equipped. Almost all new recruits have a high school diploma. Never before in peacetime have we had a military that is as well-prepared.

Just this spring, the world saw what those who serve America on freedom's front can do when the chips are down. I am speaking of the story of the U.S.S. Samuel B. Roberts, a guided missile frigate and part of our task force to protect passage through international waters in the Persian Gulf.

The Roberts was on patrol when it hit a submerged mine. The mine blew a huge hole in the ship's hull, sent a fireball shooting up the exhaust stack and 150 feet in the air, and almost tore the Roberts in half. Luckily, no one was killed. Some might have said that she was doomed; head for the life rafts. That is not what the men of the Roberts said.

They were determined to show what they could do. Acting fast, they held the Roberts together with bolts and wire, took care of their injured, escaped the mine field, and, with the help of other Navy ships, got safely to harbor. The captain summed up the spirit and determination of the entire crew when he closed his report saying of the Roberts, "We saved her, we'll fix her, and we'll fight again." And he signed off with their motto, "No higher honor."

That is the spirit, skill, and dedication that has been rebuilt in all our armed services today. "No higher honor" could be the motto of every American in uniform. Recently, to show the nation's gratitude again, I signed into law three bills expanding veterans' benefits in education, job training, health care, and other areas. The men and women on duty today should know that we will still be behind them when their service is done.

They also deserve to know that, like them, we are all doing our part to keep the peace. I am pleased that the Senate has begun floor debate on the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces—or I.N.F.—Treaty. This treaty has had a thorough and useful examination in committee.

Now the Senate can join with me and show both our allies and adversaries that it, too, wants to help build a brighter peace and better world. I hope the Senate will provide its consent to ratification of the I.N.F. Treaty in time to bring it into force during my meetings with the General Secretary in Moscow.

Let us also remember the important role the armed services have been playing in supporting law enforcement agencies in the fight against drugs. I asked the Secretary of Defense recently to find even more ways to use military resources against drug smugglers.

I also called for a joint task force—Executive Branch and Congress—to draw up a unified plan to fight drugs. I hope the leaders of Congress agree with me that the campaign against illegal drugs must not be hostage to headline seeking and partisan politics.

Not long ago we had another sign of America's strength—its economic strength—which undergirds all of our national security efforts. Trade figures came out for March. America exported in March more than ever before.

Against this background of good news on trade, I am going to veto the ill-advised trade bill Congress has sent me. Once my veto is sustained, we will work hard to get a responsible trade bill—one that will strengthen, not weaken, our economy.

Ask Ochsner

Poison Ivy

Q. I recently went on a camping trip and broke out in a terrible rash. My doctor said it was poison ivy. I really enjoy camping and hiking, but don't want to get poison ivy again. Is there anything I can do to protect myself from getting this rash? GV, Bogalusa, La.

A. Poison ivy, oak and sumac can by year-round threats to the person who spends time out-of-doors, says Dr. Robert L. Rietschel, a dermatologist at the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans. Seventy to seventy-five percent of the people in the U.S. are allergic to these plants. It's the largest single contact allergy in the country.

Becoming well aware of what the plants look like, learning to identify them and staying away from them is the best preventative measure. If you know you have touched the plant, washing thoroughly right away with warm water and soap can help, but there's no guarantee that the reaction will not occur. After three to 10 minutes, the plant resin will not wash away.

The rash itself is characterized by redness, swelling, blistering and intense itching. This is the body's attempt to reject and destroy the intrusion of the foreign substance—the resin from the plant. The reaction can last from 10 to 21 days in mild to moderate cases. The degree or severity of the reaction changes with the degree of contact with the plant and the sensitivity of the individual.

If you have the rash you should keep the affected area cleansed with cool water and a mild soap. Cool compresses and the application of drying lotions such as calamine can be soothing.

However, medical attention should be sought if an individual's face or genitals are severely affected by the rash, or if any area appears to be infected. In these and other complicated cases, it is sometimes necessary to treat the patient with cortisone or antibiotics.

Recent studies have suggested that a very simple and inexpensive preventive measure may be available in the form of antiperspirant spray products. It appears that spraying these materials onto skin that might come in contact with the plant can minimize, or in some cases, eliminate the development of poison ivy in those individuals who are already sensitive.

It is not thought to be due to the antiperspirant itself, but rather to inert materials that are present in the spray. While this information is very preliminary at this time, it is at least promising enough to merit consideration by those who have been severely incapacitated by the ravages of poison ivy in the past, concludes Dr. Rietschel.

Recipes for Moussaka, that famed specialty of Greek cuisine, often discourage some cooks, with its long list of ingredients and an even longer series of steps through which the cook is supposed to go to produce the finished product.

Granted, it does take time to cook up a moussaka, or, rather, to 'get it all together,' but this is an especially good dish for a buffet supper or luncheon, or a good 'take along' for a potluck supper or picnic at the shore, or whatever—it's up to you.

Granted, also, you have to heat up the kitchen for awhile, but you don't have to stay in there, do you?

And, you need only hot, crusty, buttered bread and a green salad to round out the meal, after all.

If you think of moussaka in terms of just another layered casserole (a more elegant relative of the canned tuna-mushroom soup-potato chip dish so dear to mothers of young children, and for good reasons) it won't seem all that complicated and difficult.

Layer fried eggplant slices with seasoned ground meat in a casserole and top with a cheese-egg sauce and sprinkle the whole business liberally with cheese before baking until the surface browns. That's all there is to it!

So let's cook up:

MOUSSAKA

3 eggplants, cut into half-inch slices
½ cup olive oil
2 lbs. ground meat, lamb (to be authentic Greek) of beef, or a mixture

2 Tbsp. butter
1 onion, rather large, chopped

Dashes of pepper and salt, according to your taste
3 tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped coarsley

2 Tbsp. chopped parsley
1 Tbsp. oregano
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ cup dry white wine

And for the sauce:

3 cups milk
3 Tbsp. flour
3 Tbsp. butter
3 eggs
4 Tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese

Additional cheese (¾ cup)
First, brown the eggplant slices in the olive oil and set aside while, in the same skillet, you brown the meat. Add onion, pepper, salt. As the onion browns, add the tomatoes, parsley, oregano, nutmeg and wine, and simmer for just about a half hour.

Meanwhile, or whenever, stir the butter and flour together over low heat till smooth, add the milk—you're making a 'white roux' in other words.

Season with nutmeg and salt, remove from heat and beat in the eggs and cheese. Set aside for a minute or so. Heat the oven to 350 degrees, and grease a 9x14 inch baking pan. Spread half the eggplant slices over the bottom of the pan, and cover with half of the meat mixture. Repeat, then pour the sauce over the whole business, sprinkle with the additional cheese, and bake until it all turns a toasty golden brown on top (a half hour, perhaps a bit longer). Six servings.

(P.S. And bring out the wine for accompaniment!

Last call for oil refunds

It's either now or never. That is the position faced by Mississippi farmers who have not filed for refunds on their crude oil purchases made from Aug. 19, 1973 to Jan. 27, 1981.

June 30 marks the deadline for submitting refund applications on oil purchased when it was under government price controls.

According to the Department of Energy's office of hearings and appeals, all refund requests must be postmarked no later than June 30, 1988.

However, it was pointed out that the requests could be amended at a later date, if necessary, but that the actual request had to be filed by the deadline.

Refunds will be made at a rate of at least $8 per 10,000 gallons of fuel used or equivalent oil based products purchased during the refund period.

If actual fuel purchase records are not available, the Department of Energy will allow estimates of use by figuring gallons used per acre.

As a result of a recent clarification, farmers and ranchers purchasing oil products from a cooperative also are eligible for direct refunds.

Initially the refunds were to be sent directly to the cooperatives. Those cooperative members filing directly must indicate the name of their cooperative and what portion of their usage was purchased from the cooperative.

Hugh Arant, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, said of the refund's approaching deadline, "This is money due our farmers as a result of the overcharge ruling."

The process is relatively simple, and anyone who purchased significant amounts of fuel during the period should seriously consider filing for the refund.

The federation's leader indicated that refund applications are available in all county Farm Bureau offices across the state.

Largest percentage of Mississippi's labor force employed in May JACKSON— Executive Director Linda Ross Aldy of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission reports the jobless rate for May dropped to 7.1 percent, the lowest rate since April, 1980.

This rate is down .02 of a percentage point below last month and 2.8 points below May, 1987.

Drawing from a total active labor force in the state of 1,151,700 this translates into 92.9 percent of eligible Mississippians being employed during the month of May.

"This represents the largest number of people ever employed in one single month in Mississippi," said Aldy.

"This record was achieved despite the fact that this state is suffering one of the worst droughts in history," she added.

While many factors have contributed to this continued drop in unemployment, including the standard seasonal rise in the agricultural industry, the largest gains have been made in both the nonmanufacturing and manufacturing industries. May figures for nonmanufacturing show an increase in 16,000 jobs from 1987, resulting in a total of 654,600 jobs for the people of this state.

"This represents the largest number of jobs ever supported by the nonmanufacturing industries in Mississippi," said Aldy.

Manufacturing positions were up from 1987 as well reflecting an increase of 6,500 jobs over last year for a total of 233,400 jobs.

Aldy explained, "Together, these two vital industry groups represent the most significant number of establishment based jobs ever reported in our state."

The only substantial loss in employment was found in the furniture and fixture industry.

There were 84,209 unemployment compensation claims filed in May, which was slightly higher than the 82,542 recorded for April, but is still drastically below May, 1987 figures of 93,875.

Word Wise

Q. How do you know when to use the words "less" and "fewer?"

A. Both words imply a comparison with something larger in number or amount. Less refers to quantity involving degree and value. Fewer refers to number. For instance, if you and a friend both had a problem, but yours was much more complicated, you could say, "His problems are less than mine." If you both had the same problem, but you had five additional problems, you could say, "His problems are fewer than mine." Remember, whenever a number is implied, use fewer: fewer apples than oranges; fewer cards in his hand, etc. Use less when implying quantity or degree: less flour than sugar in the jar; less time than before.

Now, Mobile Medic and Amserv protect your family all across the Gulf Coast and in the Hattiesburg area too.

Last year, Amserv and Mobile Medic joined forces to give your family year-round emergency ambulance protection all across the Gulf Coast.

This year, we've doubled our protection again. Thanks to a special agreement with AAA Ambulance of Hattiesburg, your $39 membership keeps your family protected throughout six counties in South Mississippi.

So if you're not a member, you now have twice as many reasons to join.

Join today, and your family will get ambulance service year-round, whenever you need it.

And the annual membership fee is still the same: Just $39.

Emergency care: No out-of-pocket expense to members...$425 to others.

A typical bill for ambulance service and emergency treatment runs around $425.

That's before you get your bills from the hospital, emergency room, or physician.

Your insurance or Medicare may only cover part of the cost. But your membership to Mobile Medic and Amserv covers the entire uninsured portion of your ambulance bill. You pay absolutely nothing above your membership fee.

And for an entire year, your membership covers you, your spouse, and all your unmarried children under 21 who live at home.

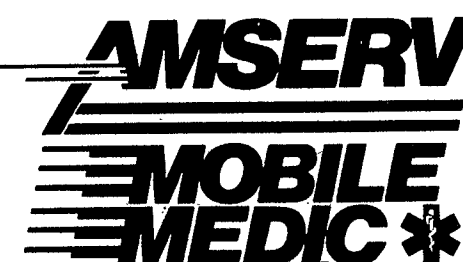

Why pay more for emergency care?

Mobile Medic and Amserv are the only ambulance services operating on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

We handle emergency medical treatment for everyone in our area, including non-members.

But while non-members pay for all treatment, supplies and ambulance service, our members pay no out-of-pocket expense above the annual $39 membership fee for local service.

If you call us only once in eleven years, your membership will have paid for itself. That's why it's smart to join now.

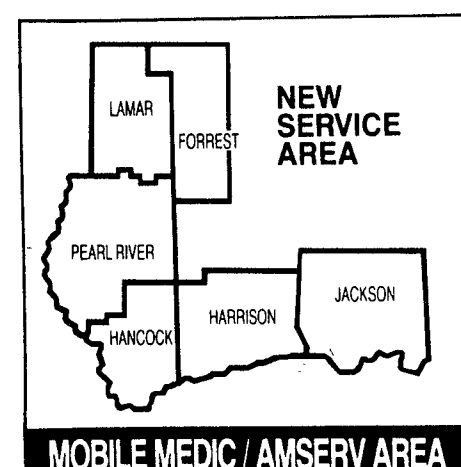

For information call:
868-1126

Outside of Harrison County call
1-868-1126 at no charge to you.

You must respond by July 31st.

We can only accept memberships once a year. This year's deadline is July 31st.

Over 15,000 Gulf Coast families belong to either Mobile Medic or Amserv. And now that we've joined forces with AAA Ambulance, our members will be protected all across the Gulf Coast and in the Hattiesburg area as well. That's twice the protection, for one low price.

So we invite you to renew your membership now. Or to sign up with us for the first time, if you're not currently a member.

Fill out the application below and send it with your check today.

Ambulance service must be medically necessary, as determined by the provider, and shall include patients who are non-ambulatory or have a medical condition which requires transport by ambulance. Ground transportation outside of the provider's local service area will be provided at a discounted rate. This membership permits the ambulance company to collect payment for services rendered directly from any insurer or other third party medical benefits provider at no charge to the member. The ambulance company will bill the third party directly, and all non-member rates. Reflections

Be On Call, Lord!

By Fr. Jerome LeDoux, SVD

So you want God to be on call, do you? Even if you skimp on time dedicated to God for thanksgiving, for praise and for worship, you still want God to be on call 24 hours a day. I can hear you telling God how to stand by even when ignored:

"Be on call, Lord! Maybe I don't get to talk to you often, but at least we can exchange a few words on Sunday morning. I always set aside one hour for you; well, more or less on hour, unless the priest cruises through the Mass quickly or the choir is brief."

"In any case, I'll see you next Sunday if I don't need you before then. Chances are that nothing extraordinary will happen to me before Sunday, but, just in case, be on call."

"Those 45 to 60 minutes on Sunday may not be long, Lord, but they are quality time set aside for you alone. Although this is less than one percent of my weekly time, it is on the day of rest which is dedicated to you. Just be on call the rest of the week."

"Be on call, Lord, even if I forget to greet, thank, praise and worship you when I awake in the morning. This is not really a slight, though it may appear to be less than thoughtful. Perhaps it is true that you are not my morning priority."

"I may not call upon your name before I eat in the morning, or at noon or in the evening. However, be on call throughout the day, even though I do not give you thanks or ask your blessing on the food which I am privileged to eat."

"Be on call at all times, Lord, in spite of the fact that I seldom, if ever, turn my thoughts in gratitude to you for the breath which I draw each day, for the health of my lungs and for the life which they help to sustain so wonderfully."

"Sickness has not been my bedfellow; yet, I have rarely thanked you for my health and my general feeling of well-being. You know how it is, Lord. You are simply not one of my great needs in times of health. Just be on call in case I do get sick."

"Be on call should I fall upon hard times. When I am employed, when I am well-heeled, when the wolf is not at my door, thoughts other than you preoccupy my mind. I am sure you understand how it is in times like those. My mind has things to deal with.

"When things turn sour, Lord, be on call. I'll need you then. When bills fall due, when creditors come calling and work is scarce, then surely I shall need to call on you. I know that you are always reliable in times of want and hardship."

"Be on call in those moments when I am sorely distressed and painfully depressed. Maybe I do not thank you for the many hours and days of joy and lightness of heart which I am privileged to experience. Nonetheless, be on call when those hours go sour."

"Company is usually great, Lord, except when I need a little space. Genuine friends stave off loneliness, although I must admit that I think of them much more than of you. But be on call for those inevitable times when loneliness will plague me."

"Be on call when I am hounded by discouragement, by humiliation, disgrace and failure. Even if I don't thank you for success, be on call when things turn against me."

"When life's shadows lengthen, when my sun is about to set, when the dread of my final hours hovers over me, be on call, Lord, to shelter me and to ease me into your kingdom of light and life."

So you want God to be on call, do you? don't you ever get the feeling that you are using God merely as a convenience? If you praised God all the time, God would always be on call for you.

Wonderful World of Antiques show set at Coast Coliseum

The 16th Annual Gulf Coast Antiques Show sponsored by the Women of the Church of the Redeemer returns to the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi on July 8, 9 and 10. Selected exhibitors from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, New York, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia will participate in this show. Offered for sale will be an extensive selection of 17th, 18th and 19th century American, English, French and Oriental period and country furniture and accessories including heirloom silver, porcelains, linens, paperweights, paintings, Art Glass, a silver matching service, antique and estate jewelry, Victorian wicker, prints, dolls, brass and copper, and much, much more.

"In our homes, furnishings from the past imbue our lives with a sense of bygone times and places whether we choose antique pieces of exemplary or superb craftsmanship or today's furnishings which reveals the enduring quality of classic designs. Two or three pieces from the past can help bring a bit of living history to any decorating theme. This fine antiques show will feature quality antiques in every price range for the collector, the decorator, the homeowner, the investor and the young adult," said a show spokesman.

Both Visa and MasterCard will be honored at most booths and a $25 gift certificate, redeemable at any booth during the show, will be awarded daily. A food service will be available during show hours and there is ample parking.

Show hours will be from 1 to 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday, the last day.

Senior Citizen Happenings

By Eve McDonald

THANKS:

—To the Hancock Bank for the ice cream social and film they showed for us last week. It was interesting to see pictures of the early years in Hancock County.

—To the sheriff's office for the fresh vegetables they shared with our seniors. When you have grown up enjoying fresh food, frozen just isn't the same. (Besides—the price is right!)

The jail warden, Jim Odom, brought over a truck load of beautiful fresh vegetables we are able to bag up and distribute.

We appreciate the help the sheriff's department has given us with help from some of their prisoners.

We are very fortunate to have so much cooperation from all of our local government persons and we do thank them.

—To the City of Bay St. Louis for the help they give us when we have our picnics. Charley Gillum and his helper come and pick up our chairs and equipment and set them up.

—To the Bay St. Louis Fire Department for their daily assistance with 'fetching and carrying' for us—for taking our packages when we are closed, for keeping an eye on our area when we are out, and for being such good friends to our people. It is a pleasure to work with and around such good friends. Besides, they do it cheerfully!

—To Police Chief Ray Murphy who helps us by sending prisoners to help keep our area clean and picked up. Not having a janitor has been a real problem, but with all of our good help from the county and city, we have managed.

Now we have a senior aide janitor part-time and we are so happy to have Mr. Jack Fryer.

HOLIDAY

We will be closed Monday, July 4. Meals-on-wheels persons will receive a bag lunch Friday, July 1 for this holiday.

GAMES

We will have games on July 8 and 22. We ask for a 25-cent donation and play for prizes. The games start at 12:15 p.m. and are in our cafeteria. Come and join us and win a prize and have some refreshments.

CLASSES

We have several new classes starting and openings in some of the others. If you are interested, please call 467-9292 and give us your name and we will give you any more information you may need.

We provide the material so you can come and try it out without any cost to you. The fellowship is worth the time spent.

—Monday, 9 a.m., chicken scratch, Mercedes Gleber; 12:30 p.m., crochet with thread, Oline Moran and Tuleter Oliver.

—Tuesday, 9 a.m., drawing, Emily Gardner; 12 p.m., special projects, sewing, Emily Gardner. New project is tote bags.
